

Higher Education Concentration

Ed.D. in Educational Leadership

A doctoral program designed for experienced education professionals ready to expand their leadership impact.

Are you ready to become a leader in the ever-changing landscape of higher education? Today, colleges and universities need people who are prepared to lead in an environment that emphasizes student success, accountability, and collaboration between faculty and staff. They need people who can build bridges with other institutions and sectors and among diverse interests in the states and communities they serve.

Doctoral-level preparation in higher education can position you for a greater impact on campus life, student outcomes, and the advancement of scholarship. The curriculum is designed to provide the scholarly underpinning for improved practice and research.

48-Credit Hours

The program can be completed in four years, pending enrollment patterns and academic progression.

Location

Higher Education is a main campus concentration with hybrid course offerings.

Curriculum

Select core leadership, concentration-specific, and research courses that align with your professional goals and scholarly interests.

Delivery

Classes are from 5:30 PM to 8:15 PM. Each course meets one evening per week, Monday thru Thursday.

Capstone

Complete an applied dissertation focused on a real-world problem in your area of concentration, using research and evaluation to understand current conditions and inform effective leadership decisions.
